Dear Ms. Munro,

I apologize for not getting a reply to your inquiry to the CABC office regarding pottery seminars off to you before the Christmas holidays.

It is often difficult to get the information out in time, unless of course there is at least a month to a month and a half lead-in time. For example today I received information on a Wayne Ngan workshop from the Fraser Valley Potters Guild that is taking place in April. That is plenty of time.

I would suggest that you take a chance on the CABC's newsletter for one year and see if that works for you as a source of information. I know that it takes longer for mail to get to members outside of the lower mainland.

If you are interested in Wayne's workshop I would sign-up right away. You might also wish to contact the Emily Carr College of Art and Design for their schedule of workshops for future use. Their address is: 1399 Johnson Street, Vancouver, B.C. V6H 3R7.

Sincerely,

Gail Rogers
Executive Director
